National Oral Disability Centre for Rare Disorders
We are a national centre for rare disorders that are connected with aberrant tooth and jaw development, impaired orofacial function and need for extensive dental treatment.

Our services comprise both children and adults and we are a resource for care givers and patients in Sweden.

Rare disorders

Are defined as rare when it affects fewer than 100 individuals per million population and leads to disability.

More information can be found at: www.socialstyrelsen.se/ovanligadiagnoser

We offer

- Consultation, dental examination and information free of charge (however, there are additional costs for radiographs).

- Dental assessment as part of diagnostic investigations.

- Dental treatment planning in close collaboration with our reference group of dental specialists.

- Dental treatment is normally performed by the regular dentist. It may be done at the Institute for Postgraduate Dental Education for those who live within Region Jönköping County.

We

- Collect and document knowledge about rare disorders.
The Institute for Postgraduate Dental Education was established in 1972 and is an educational centre for dentists in all dental specialities.

At the Institute for Postgraduate Dental Education in Jönköping, patient focused clinical research is performed as well as specialist dental treatment of patients referred from dental or medical health care.

- Run research and development projects about rare disorders in contribution of a better, safer and evidence-based dental care.

- Give education about rare disorders.
