About Region Jönköping County

Region Jönköping County, a county located in southern Sweden serving a population of 340,000 is one of the leading healthcare organisations in the world; it provides a model for transformation that has been an inspiration to many international leaders in quality improvement.

Region Jönköping County has over 10,000 employees that represent over 100 professions. It is an organisation that is responsible for two main areas; Public Health/Health and Care/Dental Care and Regional growth and development. The Region's vision - "For a good life in an attractive county" - resonates with Swedish values, has remained constant for almost two decades. The Region has also identified 13 fundamental values that are spread within the organisation and characterise the work approach, decisions and choice of path in different issues. The values are hallmarks of a successful organisation, and have been drawn up by the Swedish Institute for Quality, SIQ.

The Region remains in the top of the national ranking with the three hospital being nominated among seven best hospitals in Sweden. The Region has a top-class healthcare hygiene, great confidence from citizens in primary care and the children and young people in Jönköping have the healthiest teeth in Sweden.

The citizens of Jönköping County have the greatest confidence in the healthcare system and are more satisfied with access to healthcare than anywhere else in Sweden.
